

WARMER WEATHER HOTTER POLITICS

GENERAL GOSSIP ABOUT THE SITUATION IN THE STATE.

M'GOVERN AND LA FOLLETTE

Believed That Conference Held Last Night Will Mean Combination of Forces.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, June 22.—There is apparently now no doubt in the minds of the politicians watching the situation in Wisconsin, that the McGovern and La Follette campaigns are to be one and the same. If this is true it leaves Mr. Lewis of Racine in the cold and also complicates negotiations that strong may have had of the Senatorial support.

Hard Conference.
P. C. McGovern came out from Milwaukee yesterday and was elected last evening with the La Follette campaign managers. Today another confab was held, although the purpose of the meeting was kept a profound secret by all concerned. It is believed, however, that an agreement has been reached whereby the La Follette influence will go to the Milwaukee man.

As To Lewis.
Politicians are also disquieted by the report that Lewis will shortly make an official announcement that he is opposed to the re-election of Senator La Follette and that Republican State Chairman E. A. Edwards will announce his formal support to the Lewis standard. It is known that Lewis is doing considerable work in the state and plans for a big conference of his friends in Milwaukee on the 30th of the present month.

Davidson's Position.
There is no change in the Davidson problem as yet. The Governor has stated he would not be a candidate if Fairchild remained in the field and from all appearances Fairchild intends to make the race. The politicians calling upon Davidson to be a candidate have been circulated somewhat and freely signed but the Governor has not spoken.

Ends All Talk.
Last night it was reported that the political leaders meant to eliminate Fairchild from the race by having him appointed to fill the vacancy as county clerk of Milwaukee county. The statement, however, was immediately denied by the press and Governor Davidson also repudiated the idea. To show his position more clearly he has announced he will appoint present District Attorney Buckner of Milwaukee to the vacant judgeship.

Leave's Vacancy.
This leaves a vacancy in the district attorneyship of Milwaukee county, a most important office, and it is possible that some other strong friend of the Governor will receive this plum which will add to his prestige in that city should he finally enter the race. Buckner was failed of as a candidate for the governorship until Fairchild came out.

Fairchild's Campaign.
E. T. Fairchild has begun his campaign tour of the state and his nomination papers are being circulated. His headquarters have been opened in Milwaukee and it is expected that for the present he will confine his efforts to making acquaintances and furthering his campaign by personal endeavor. Reports of decided increased support of his candidacy come drifting in from all parts of the state.

Headquarters to Open.
Republican Campaign Manager W. D. Connor will open his headquarters in Milwaukee tomorrow at the Buckingham hotel and active work will begin of promoting the campaign. Mr. Connor will have personal charge of the office with a corps of able assistants. Apparently the warmer the weather the hotter is the political work being done.

CARY REVIEWS THE SCHOOL SITUATION

Thinks the High Schools of State
Should Not Merely Fit for College Courses.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., June 22.—A recent dispatch conveying the information that the Yale corporation had discovered that the general run of high schools, while they do not fit men for college so well as private preparatory schools, provide students who "do better in college," caught the eye of State Supt. of Public Instruction C. P. Cary today. Supt. Cary has long fought for the broadening of the curriculum of the Wisconsin high schools, in order that they shall not merely fit the graduates for college, but shall provide training that will be useful in case the graduate finds it impossible to continue his education. To this end he has opposed all attempts on the part of the University of Wisconsin authorities to control or direct entirely the makeup of the Wisconsin high school courses. Commenting on the report of the Yale corporation as to high schools, Supt. Cary said:

"I do not know upon what authority such a statement was made, but I can easily believe it is true. Preparation for college is such a thing as has a strong tendency to magnify the memory and to minimize intelligence. This is not due to any lack of intelligence on the part of those who conduct first-class fitting schools, but to the fact that it is memory rather than intelligence that is called for in the examinations. The prize student is the one who can carry most in his memory and must speedily unload it on demand.

"The old examination system has been the prime and the curse of New England education for many a year. It is easy to find men of mature years, anywhere in the United States today who have lived for years on a plane of arrested development brought about by such early training. They know more about Dido than about Gladstone, more about the siege of Troy than about municipal government or any other problems of the hour. When bothered by modern problems they light a lamp, curl up in a corner and draw inspiration from the blind. If all were not affected in that way, it is because they were caught up in the current of modern life and carried along in spite of themselves, or because the education did not strike in.

"The modern high school at its best does for its aim, not preparation for college, but the development of intelligence. To the extent that it succeeds, and to the extent that the work of the college is intelligent, to that extent the high school which pays attention to the demands of the college is a better place to fit for college than the short-sighted preparation obtained in the old type of fitting school. The farther the high school is kept from that type, the better for the boy and the better for the college.

"This is no argument against the study of the classics or any other subject taught in the fitting school. A pupil really wants to study languages, ancient history, and the like and can thrive best on that sort of diet, but all means let him have it, but not simply for the sake of getting into college."

BOISE PENROSE IN ABSOLUTE CONTROL

Of the Pennsylvania Republican State Convention Which Assembled at Harrisburg Today.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 22.—With United States Senator Roles Penrose in absolute control of the situation, the Republican State convention assembled here today and was called to order shortly before noon in the Majestic Theatre. In addition to adopting a platform the convention will name candidates for governor and the other state officers to be voted for at the November election. It is conceded that a Western Pennsylvania man will be chosen to head the ticket and the indications are that the chosen one is likely to fall upon William A. Hakeley, district attorney of Pittsburgh. Hakeley has sprung into sudden political prominence through his war on the Pittsburgh grafters. Until recently he was not considered by the leaders. He is a political protégé of Senator Oliver. Following the results of the recent primaries in Dauphin district the party leaders came to realize the grave peril of a Republican defeat in Pennsylvania this fall and at the same time are said to have reached the conclusion that Hakeley, who is known as a reform man, would be the best man to choose as the standard-bearer in the coming campaign.

Others whose names have been mentioned more or less prominently in connection with the gubernatorial nomination are Lieutenant Governor Robert Murphy, Speaker John F. Cox, and Congressman John K. Tener.

DIFFERENT VIEWS ON TARIFF GIVEN

Republicans of Pennsylvania Have
One and Democrats of Ohio
Another Idea of Results.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Harrisburg, Pa., June 22.—The republican platform endorses and commends the tariff administration for its record of accomplishment, reciting the various measures passed since the president's inauguration. It declares the tariff is in accordance with the republican national platform, citing as one of the effects of the measure the half billion dollar increase in wages to the workmen, and insisting the revision was downward. The remainder of the platform is devoted to state issues.

The convention nominated John K. Tener for governor, besides other state officials, and adopted the platform on national issues.

Dayton, Ohio, June 22.—Governor Harmon, in addressing the democratic state convention, today, declared the people had been imposed on by the tariff levied ostensibly for public revenue, but really for private profit. "They were never before fooled by a promise of substantial reductions of these taxes broken in their faith as soon as their votes were secured," he said, and added that the tariff was no relief or favor to the interests which profit through the tariff laws and allowed to frame them. "The only agency through which these interests can be abolished, he contended, is the democratic party.

He urged economy in the conduct of the government and concluded: "Neither economy nor the watchful regard for common welfare is possible in Washington while the reign of the favored goes on and practical genius of our people finds such small expressions in conduct of their public business."

The convention unanimously re-nominated Gov. Harmon and endorsed him for the presidential nomination. It defeated the proposition to endorse a candidate for governor and adopted a platform devoted almost entirely to state issues, declaring, however, for a downward revision of tariff.

UNIVERSITY HAS ITS GRADUATION

LARGEST CLASS IN ITS HISTORY
RECEIVE DIPLOMAS.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., June 22.—Degrees were granted this morning to 650 members of the graduating class of the University of Wisconsin. In the presence of an audience of thousands, every foot of space in the big armory. Scores of men and women have so many degrees been conferred, a fact which added emphasis to the tremendous growth of the greatest state university in the country. Ten years ago today the number of graduates was 291.

The big audience today sweltered in the heat of the crowded hall, but waited until the end at 1 o'clock, for the most impressive and interesting part of the program—the conferring of degrees—came near the end.

In addressing the graduating class, President Van Hise said: "These fundamental truths as to the relation of the university and the state are presented to you because, like all privileged persons, you should feel a special obligation to perform your duty in the amazingly difficult and complex situation which now exists.

"At times of unrest and change it is indeed difficult to find the path of truth. You, with the advantages of a university education, should in this search have more than an average degree of success, and thus perform a proportionately large part in future advances. But if this result be obtained, it must be adhering firmly to the high ideas and ideals of the university, one of the fundamental teachings of which is the placing of social responsibility before individual advancement.

"To you, also, who today become alumni, and to the alumni of previous commencements, the university looks to protect it in maintaining the high ground which it now occupies, in giving the support which enables it to arise to an even higher level.

All the candidates for degrees met on the upper campus at 8:45 a. m. and formed the university procession. The members of the instructional forces met at the law building and joined the procession as it passed. The president, the regents, invited guests and the classes of '09 and '10 met in front of old Library hall and joined the line. Led by the band, the procession marched down the campus to Park street and the gymnasium.

As the graduates entered the hall, Bach's symphony orchestra of Milwaukee, stationed in the hanging balcony, played the grand march. Prayer was offered by Rev. E. G. Updike, D. D., of the First Congregational church. After another orchestra selection, the following commencement orations were delivered:

"Journalism in the University," by David K. Hanchett, Chicago, for the college of letters and science.

"The Most Useful Domestic Animal," by Burns O. Severson, Stoughton, for the college of agriculture.

"Employers' Liability Laws," by Frank J. Shannon, Oconomowoc, for the college of letters and science.

"Student Self-Government," by William H. Witt, Marshfield, for the college of engineering.

"Obedience to the Law," Oliver R. Randall, Livingston, for the college of law.

Miss Minnie Bergman of the school of music sang "Farwell, ye Hills," by Tchaikovsky. Then followed President Van Hise's address to the graduates on "The University and the States," in which he took the ground that political control, the demand for returns measurable in dollars and cents, and restrictions of freedom of teaching constitute a grave menace to the university.

As a response to the president's address, the graduating class sang the commencement song:

Alma Mater, kindly Mother,
Unto thee our song we raise—
Thine to whom, as to no other,
Songs are due, and love and praise.
Fountain of our best aspiring,
Nurse of men, and source of might,
May we yield at thy requiring
Deeds of power and thoughts of light.

The conferring of degrees proved, as in years past, an impressive scene. For fully a half hour the long line passed across the platform and each received from the hands of the president a diploma. The special honors were then awarded, including those of the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

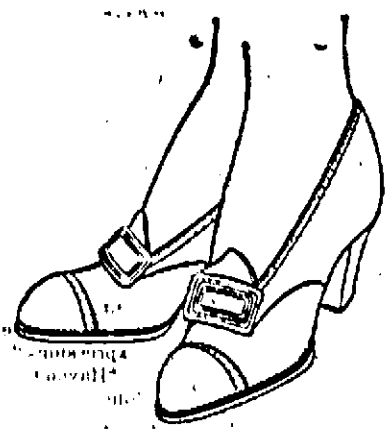

This afternoon Bach's orchestra gave a concert in the armory, assisted by Mrs. Inga Sandberg of the university school of music. A public reception will be held from 4 to 6 o'clock in the graduating class, alumni, and other friends of the university, at the president's house, by President and Mrs. Van Hise.

Beginning at 8:30 tonight will be held the alumni reception and promenade concert by Bach's symphony orchestra, in Luther hall, the new Women's building on University avenue. The alumni ball will follow at ten o'clock, and will mark the close of the commencement for 1910.

Honorary degrees were conferred by the University of Wisconsin today upon Count Von Bernstorff, German ambassador, as doctor of laws; Dean Clark H. Haskins, of the Harvard graduate school, formerly professor of history in the University of Wisconsin, doctor of literature; and Prof. Franklin H. King, soil expert, formerly of Wisconsin college of agriculture, doctor of science.

VAN HISE PREACHES NON INTERFERENCE OF STATE POLITICS

President of University Sets Forth Some Startling Doctrines in Talk to Graduates.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Madison, Wis., June 22.—The danger to state universities resulting from political control, from the demand for returns measurable in dollars and cents, and from restriction of freedom of teaching, were pointed out by President Charles R. Van Hise of the University of Wisconsin, in his commencement address to 658 members of the graduating class today.

"In times of unrest and change like the present, when new and important issues are arising," Dr. Van Hise declared, "men of learning who know the past, interpret facts broadly, and have no other purpose but the greatest good of the greatest number, should be absolutely free.

"Times of unrest and change are not times for the university to trim its sails," he asserted. "The state has a right to demand of the university expert service in solving the public difficulties; it has the equal right to demand expert service in politics and sociology.

"The strength of the state university lies in its close relation to the state. The state demands of it service; the university feels a peculiar obligation to the state in which it is situated. It is the duty of the staff of the state university to be at the service of the state along all lines in which their expert knowledge will be helpful.

"The state owns the university, and every citizen feels himself to be a stockholder in that ownership. But associated with these close relations which are the strength of the state university, are also the most serious dangers. These are that the university may be politically controlled and that it may be hampered in its work.

"The danger of political control of the state university is especially exposed in its youth. A number of such universities have suffered from politics in their early history. It speaks well for the democracy of this country that as the states have developed, the danger of political interference in university government has steadily become less. At the present time there is no serious danger of political control in any of the older and stronger state universities.

"The other danger—interference with the university's work—has two phases. First, it may be demanded that teaching which looks toward material ends shall be strong, while the humanities are allowed to remain weak and undeveloped; and, second, freedom of teaching and investigation may be interfered with.

"It is natural, indeed, inevitable, that the people shall demand that of effective teaching, research, and extension of knowledge shall be done in agriculture, in engineering, and in other fields from which a financial return may be shown on the investment. These demands are right, and should be fully met by the university; but the people should also appreciate that all material gains are for men and women. Why should we wish to produce more wheat and cotton? In order that human beings may be fed and clothed. But the life is more than meat, and the body is more than raiment."

"Shall the people demand of their university that it provide for their material needs and neglect the intellectual, artistic, moral, and spiritual development? The university authorities must insist that man shall not become a mere machine, a mere tool, a mere instrument subordinate to material gain, which is for him. If the people will support a state university in which these ideals obtain, then can it truly be said that a democracy is a success."

"The remaining danger of the close association of the state with the university is the possibility of interference with the freedom of teaching and investigation. In general such interference is likely to be indirect rather than direct, and is therefore all the more insidious. A sentiment will be developed or a situation arise in a state such that the professor feels that he is not free to teach the truth as he sees it.

"For my own part, I have no doubt that in all the states in which the state universities are strongly established, the overwhelming majority of the people are in favor of absolute freedom of teaching and investigation, but frequently the disappointed, dominant sentiment does not express itself; and there are always some who would place limitations upon the field of the university.

"A university must insist that the whole domain of physical and human phenomena belongs within its scope—pure science, applied science, conservation, politics, morals, religion, are proper fields of study for a university.

"No part of the domain of human experience, knowledge, or ideas can be set off as forbidden ground.

"The professor should consider the problem before him in the light of pure reason, with not thought but to find the truth, wholly uninfluenced by popular sentiment or passion. Shall the university be free to teach that a certain practice in agriculture is wrong and to advocate a new and improved practice, and the same principle not apply in politics and in morals? Such an action would be intolerable.

"No institution which does not handle the humanities in all their applications under the same principles that it handles the pure and applied sciences, is worthy of the name of university.

"The staff of the university, on the other hand, should be free from intellectual arrogance, and devoid of any attempt to force their ideas upon the people. The university professors, above most groups of men, should recognize the complexity of the facts, the impossibility of arriving at the absolute, and so, without fear and without bias, with firmness but with profound humility, present their ideas to the world to be accepted if found good and to be rejected if found inadequate.

"The state university should not be a follower, but a leader, and in all fields, the trend which has characterized the first decade of this twentieth century has led to many new proposals in all fields. The conservative lives have sometimes been disturbed because questions have arisen which in the past have been regarded as settled.

"With reference to such questions it has sometimes been said that the university should keep off; that it should let the battle be fought out by others without any attempt at leadership. This position the university authorities and its friends must firmly reject.

"At times of unrest when new and important issues are arising, men of learning who know the history of the past, who should know the facts broadly, and who have no purpose but the greatest good of the greatest number, should be absolutely free. If at such times those who should be leaders do not throw their intellect and influence in the right direction, there is danger that demagoguery and passion may lead in long directions and result in disaster.

"Times of unrest, of changing ideas and ideals, are above all the times when the university should be most active in the guidance of public opinion. Times of unrest and change are not times for the university to trim its sails. If at a time of stress the university fails its duty, people will look for the university to solve the public difficulties, and will demand that the university should be at the service of the state along all lines in which their expert knowledge will be helpful.

"The state has a right to demand of the university expert service in solving the public difficulties; it has the equal right to demand expert service in politics and sociology."

State Bankers' Association Assemble in Twenty-First Annual Convention.

St. Paul, Minn., June 22.—Financial men from all parts of the state were assembled in the Grand Opera house this morning when President W. I. Prince of Duluth called to order the Minnesota Bankers' association for its twenty-first annual convention. After prayer by Rev. Fred G. Hurling, Mr. Prince and the other officers made their reports, and then Prof. A. F. Woods, director of the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota, read a paper on what that department has done, is doing and plans to do in developing the agricultural interests of the state. This was followed by addresses by J. H. Gallenherst, superintendent of banking, on "The New Banking Department," and by Howard S. Abbott of Minneapolis on "The Present Tendency of Public Expenditures."

TRUNK MURDER PUZZLE SOLVED.

Man Who Killed W. A. Johnson Claims Self-Defense in Confession.

Portland, Ore., June 22.—Jesse B. Webb confessed to the killing of W. A. Johnson, whose body was found in a trunk in the Union station in this city. Webb, in a signed statement to the police, said he killed Johnson in self-defense after a brawl between the two men in the latter's room in a downtown hotel. Mrs. D. W. Kersch, who was arrested with Webb, is exonerated from complicity in the crime by the confessed slayer, who charges, however, that she conspired with him in placing the body in the trunk and sending it to the Union station. Mrs. Kersch was supposed to be the wife of Johnson, but admitted she is the wife of Bert Kersch, a city employe of Seattle, and that she eloped with Webb a year ago.

THE CASH STORE

OVER 1200 NEW WAISTS
landed in our store within the past ten days. They are bought in season, the styles are new, the prices are low.

Women who are looking to make savings in their purchases will be more than pleased at the many opportunities offered at this Big Cash Store. No matter what department you visit you will find that invariably our prices offer little savings and big savings, depending upon the cost of the article.

Everything is sold for cash and because it is sold for cash we can afford to sell for less. If we saved just the one item, "loss on bad accounts," we could still afford to sell for less than a credit store can, but there are other savings, such as interest on money outstanding, bookkeeping and collecting expense, etc., and then, too, there are advantages in buying for cash.

TODAY IS SHIRTWAIST DAY

DAILY DIET HINTS

GUARD AGAINST TOO MUCH ALBUMEN

Life cannot be generated spontaneously, but artificial tissue has been produced closely resembling serious membranes, by the action of phosphoric acid upon albumen. All tissue is formed from albumen, and the assimilation of this food element and elimination of its waste through the kidneys is the most costly of the processes of nutrition. Whence it is important that there be no excess of albumen in the daily ration (not ordinarily over ten per cent. in that of the adult, less for the aged), and that albumen be taken in its natural form, uncoagulated by excessive heat. No albumen is more readily assimilated than that of the unroasted peanut (which is 30 per cent. albumen), and the peanut contains phosphoric acid. (See bulletin of U. S. department of agriculture.) This accounts for the apparently stimulating effect of peanut, unroasted, or prepared at a temperature below 150 Fah. and blanched. Like other vital foods, they should not be indigestibly mixed; they combine well with dry whole wheat bread, or ripe bananas, or dates, and with apples.

REGULATION AND OWNERSHIP.

"In the course of recent discussion of the extent to which government regulation of the railroad business may go, the question has more than once arisen: How far can this regulation be extended before it shall take on, practically, the form of operation, and will not this eventually lead to public ownership? It is recalled that the Interstate commission was at first empowered simply to prevent discrimination favorable to or against the shipper. Its duties were supervisory in character simply, and it was not intended that the commission should interfere with the operation of public carriers as business enterprises. It was not long before further steps were taken and closer supervision was the result, with attempts at actual regulation here and there. Later, the commission has felt competent, and has been empowered to pass upon freight rates made by the companies and to judge as to their reasonableness and fairness. Now nothing short of the privilege of actually making the rates will satisfy those who are 'strengthening the hands' of the commission.

"These steps would have been impossible were it not that the people are coming more and more to regard the common carriers in the light of public servants rather than private corporations. On the other hand, thoughtful people are bound to recognize the fact that one of the serious consequences of this tendency is to excuse an invasion of private rights, since it is private capital and not public money that is invested in the railroads.

"The limit of extension of government regulation has not been reached, but when the government undertakes to say upon what terms the transportation companies shall do business with their patrons, we are getting very close to it. Procedure along this line must be, at least, well-justified if it is not to lead to actual ownership.

This sensible editorial from the 'Christian Science Monitor' sizes up conditions as they exist today, and the situation presented is of more than passing interest. The railroads of the country are so badly handicapped by state and national regulation, that American capital can no longer be secured for extensions and improvements, and bonds which should be sold at home, are sold abroad at a sacrifice.

Public sentiment has been so poisoned by agitation that railway corporations have become a byword, and the most unreasonable regulations are demanded.

Rate-making by commission is an arbitrary proposition, which would be termed 'confiscation' if applied to a private business, and that would mean socialism, pure and simple.

While it is true that railroads are public service corporations it is also true that they are constructed and maintained by private capital, and the capital is entitled to the same protection as any other capital.

It will be a sorry day for the nation if persecution compels this kind of capital to retire from the field, to be succeeded by government ownership, and yet that is where we are drifting.

The life of a republic depends upon the ability displayed to govern ourselves. The feverish unrest now in control is a display of weakness which may result in grave disaster.

THE FLORIDA EVERGLADES.

People in all parts of the country have been solicited to buy ten acres of land in the Everglades of Florida, and all sorts of inducements have been held out. The price, $21 per acre, and the partial payment plan, have proved attractive butts, which thousands of suckers have grabbed with great avidity.

The investment is so small that it doesn't pay to make a tour of investigation, and so the purchaser remains in ignorance of conditions, not knowing that in many cases he is buying an undrained marsh. "The Contractor" recently published the following, which will be of interest to men who have planted their money.

"That plan for draining the Everglades of Florida is up again, so 'tis said. At least contractors are being asked to bid on some big projects down there, including the construction of five drainage canals, aggregating about 235 miles, for the lowering of the level of Lake Okechobee, Florida. The contract for this mammoth enterprise will be let in a few weeks. The construction of these canals will require the excavation of approximately 13,000,000 cubic yards of earth and 6,000,000 cubic yards of rock. The five canals will be known as the North New River, and South New River, the Miami branch, the Hillsborough canal and the Gulf Coast canal. These canals will vary in width from 50 to 70 feet and range in depth from 8 to 12 feet.

"The day is bound to come when the contracting skill of the country will make a garden spot of this vast swamp which has been one of the historic spots of the United States since the seven year Seminole war which ended in 1842, and which came into still greater prominence a few years ago by reason of Governor Broward's determination to put it into habitable condition.

"The Everglades lie in an immense basin whose rim, probably of volcanic origin, is composed of coral and lime stone rock. There are times when the surface of the Everglades is so slightly submerged that the rim is above the water, while during the flood season it may be partially or wholly covered. This barrier is what creates the Everglades, as but a small portion of the water can escape through it. Measurements made at various points by state and government engineers show the elevation of the submerged lands is fully twenty feet above the sea of the lowest point, and there is a continual descent from Lake Okechobee to the water. Consequently the problem to solve has been how to make passage through this rim which would be sufficient capacity to allow the water to find a lower level and thus escape.

"Governor Broward stated some time ago that it would require millions of outlets to drain the swamp. But he has never lost faith in the undertaking; and some day his hopes will be realized, and five million acres of land will be added to the productive area of the country."

MIS-QUOTED.

The press dispatches last week contained what purported to be the report of an address by Professor Laughlin of Chicago, delivered at the Drake University of Iowa, in which the professor was accused of holding up President Taft to ridicule and criticism.

Papers commented freely on the episode, and censured the speaker severely. It now transpires that Professor Laughlin was misquoted, as will be seen by the following statement: "Compare Taft and Roosevelt? I never even mentioned their names. I never even mentioned the administration. I never contrasted them as leaders. There was nothing said about the 'interests.' I was talking on leadership and pointed out that some men used the leadership for selfish purposes. I gave examples of courage, moral and other, and mentioned Lincoln. I said that in reality it was the great investigators who were the real leaders and others followed."

"The Gazette is glad to know that the professor is not guilty. It hardly seemed possible that an educator could so far forget himself, but the report came through news channels that are not given to mistakes. Some reckless reporter must have had a grudge against the professor.

Minnesota has been heard from with a loyalty to Taft message and an endorsement of the administration. The President's Winona speech which the insurgents have discussed so vigorously, was full of good republican doctrine and the party in Minnesota endorses it at the first opportunity presented, flourishing around Washington.

Mr. Bryan has been told by the democrats of Ohio that he "can go away back and sit down." The democratic party is making desperate efforts to free itself from Bryanism. Ambition centers on control of the next house of representatives, and party leaders are confident of success.

Governor Hughes of New York has called an extra session of the legislature to consider his pet primary law measure. If the law-makers are wise they will turn it down. The Chicago state has no law for a law that has proved a burlesque wherever tried.

President Taft proposes to stay in Washington and fight it out if it takes all summer. The insurgents in the senate who propose to talk against him on the postal savings bank bill should take warning. The President is a good stayer.

The Houston Post took La Follette to task the other day, and Bryan immediately came to his rescue, claiming that no self-respecting democratic paper could afford to abuse the Wisconsin senator. A little significant, don't you think?

The tariff and high cost of living will be the slogan of the insurgent campaign and it will be more or less effective, as people like to be told that they are abused.

When the fog clears away it will be found that party platform pledges have been largely redeemed and that President Taft is entitled to loyal support.

The city of Des Moines, Ia., laid the corner stone of a $350,000 city hall yesterday. Since that city abandoned the clumsy and unbusinesslike system of government by a city council for government by a commission of business men, it has had plenty of money to spend for improvements.—Shoebogyan Journal.

To be patriotic is to do more than sing "The Star Spangled Banner." It is to do more, even, than fight foreign foes. Real patriotism consists of protecting the republic from all enemies, both foreign and domestic. Indeed, history tells us that republics are most frequently destroyed from within.—Shoebogyan Press.

We have read in a number of La Follette's papers, including the Milwaukee Journal, how there was held an "enthusiastic meeting" in Minnesota, headed by one George S. Lofth, "a big shipper" at which help, literature and money are promised to La Follette. Beautiful picture! According to the same papers there are barrels of "literature" and money heading this way from the coast to down La Follette; so there is danger of the two streams meeting and Wisconsin becoming "a submerged tenth" or something equally as bad.—Eau Claire Leader.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON.
(Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

He's so familiar with the great, this Harry Thurston Peck, that every man of high estate has bent upon his neck. The poet Brown pondered deep the things that Harry said; Lord Tennyson was wont to sleep in Harry's cradle. When I was young, he wildly cried: "My life will be a wreck, if this, my drama, is denied, the praise of Thurston Peck!" Said Kipling, in his better days: "What use is my renown, when Harry seems my blooming love, and blights them with a frown?" The poet, when his end draws near, cries: "Death brings no alarms, if I, in that grim hour of fear, may die in Harry's arms." And, being dead, his spirit knows no shade of doubt or gloom; if Harry plants a little rose upon his humble tomb, Poor Shakespeare and those other bards, who haunt the blessed isles, were born too soon for such rewards as Harry Thurston's smiles. But joy will lighten their despair, and feed the realm of song; for Harry Peck will join them there—they'll see him face to face!

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

READ THIS TO YOUR BOY.

Do not kill the birds, boys. Killing birds is not a manly sport. If you kill them because they are small and you are big and strong, that is taking an unequal advantage. It is just like your jumping on to a boy much smaller than yourself.

Use your sling shots and rifles in shooting at marks. Do not murder innocent creatures.

When you have killed a poor little thing of feathers and have seen it flutter to the ground in the death throes and bathed in its blood have you not felt ashamed of yourself?

Suppose some one fifty times as big as you should shoot you down "just for fun."

Well, the birds have as good right to live as you have. They do not harm anyone. And do you not know how useful they are?

Here are some figures: It is estimated that there are at least five birds to every acre in the state of Massachusetts. That makes a bird population of 25,000,000, which is a lot of birds.

Now—For one day's food supply for this many birds it is estimated that it will take 2,500,000,000—two billion five hundred million—insects, which is a lot of insects.

That is just for one day, mind you. You can't figure how many insects the birds of Massachusetts will destroy in one whole summer. You would run out of figures.

And then think how many insects the birds of the United States destroy! To try to count them would be like trying to count the sands of the sea.

Think of the trees and plants and crops they save from bugs and caterpillars and the like. Why, without the birds the world would be overrun with vermin.

The birds have many enemies. Besides humans, they must watch out for the hawk tribe and the cat tribe. Storms may blow away their nests. They may perish of the cold. Do not be a bird killer.

Instead of making war on the beautiful, busy, joyful things, learn to know their names and plumage and language, whistle their songs, protect their nests, feed them, love them!

By doing so a spirit of gentleness and happiness will steal into your heart and you will become a friend of the birds.

attended by two pages and several bridesmaids. The latter included Miss Dorothy Smith Barry, the bride's half sister, Miss Clara Frewen and the young daughter of Mr. Bache and Lady Curzon.

The bride's gown was of rich white satin draped with priceless old lace, with a wreath of orange blossoms holding in place the Brussels lace veil. Her only jewel was a pendant given by the bridegroom.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Adair in Curzon street, an aunt of the bride. Over a thousand invitations were accepted and the handsome house, which was beautifully decorated with flowers, was crowded with guests.

The presents were numerous and costly, including diamond tiaras and necklaces and other jewels.

The marriage of Miss Post and Mr. Eliot is entirely a love match, and neither the bride nor bridegroom has a superabundance of this world's goods. The bride comes of American stock, though she has passed the most of her years in London. Her mother was the daughter of Gen. James Whitworth of Genesee, N. Y., who fell in the battle of the Wilderness.

The bride has been a favorite in high society since her coming out in 1908. Two of her intimate friends are the Crown Princesses of Sweden, who is the older daughter of the Duke of Connaught, and the Crown Princess of Romania, who is a cousin of King George.

Montague Eliot, the bridegroom, was in the personal entourage of King Edward as groom-in-waiting and it is said that he is to be retained in a similar capacity by King George. His father was the late Lieut. Col. Charles Eliot and his grandfather the third Earl of St. Germans. The Countess of Beesborough and Lady Layard are his aunts.

Kansas City, Mo., June 22.—Judge Ralph S. Latham of the criminal court intimated in an interview here that he might grant a new trial to Dr. H. C. Hyde, recently convicted of having poisoned Col. Thomas H. Swain.

"I am reading carefully every citation given me by the attorneys for Doctor Hyde," said Judge Latham. "If I become satisfied that the conviction is correct that the grand jury indictments were not specific enough to allow Doctor Hyde to prepare a complete defense, I certainly shall grant a new trial."

SUMMER CLUB HELD THE FIRST PICNIC OF SEASON YESTERDAY

Ladies of Household Economics Club Met Yesterday at E. H. Ramsom Home in Avalon.

The first picnic of the Summer Club of Household Economics for the season was held yesterday in Avalon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ramsom. About one hundred and twenty-five ladies attended the picnic, journeying by way of the railroad and in carriages and autos. Those who took the train were met at the depot at Avalon by hawkeyes and surreys and driven a half mile to the home where the festivities occurred. Shortly after the ladies were seated at the tables, which were laden with delicious refreshments, served by the ladies of the club. The church of Emmanuel, which was enjoyed. At 2:30 o'clock a business session was held under the beautiful awning, the location of the house on a hill affording a cool breeze. Mrs. W. B. Davis, the new president of the club, presided and gave the members a hearty welcome. Mrs. Fisher, founder of the club, gave a short and interesting talk on the club and how it came to be called "summer" club. She also spoke of "Homekeeping and Housekeeping." The report of the delegate to the first district federal convention, held April 21, at Milton Junction, was given by Mrs. Kimbrough. An excellent paper on "The Typhoid Fever" was read by Mrs. Walcott. Mrs. Day was unable to be present and her report was left over, but Mrs. Humphrey made appropriate remarks and collected twelve dollars for the fund to be raised to bring the children from the Commons here for an outing. The children will arrive later. Miss Ruth Wetmore and Miss Flora Jones gave recitations which were much appreciated, and which closed the program. The ladies of the Emmanuel church served a delicious ice cream and cake. A song of thanks was extended by the club to Mr. and Mrs. Ramsom and to the Emmanuel church ladies. The majority of the members of the club returned to Janesville on the North-Western train at seven o'clock.

CITY SIZZLES WHILE JUNE MAKES RECORD

Heat Records for Present Month Made and Citizens in Almost a Similar Condition.

Dear the dog days here? June seems to be making a determined and successful attempt to smother all heat records. If the past seven or eight days have not been dog days, strictly speaking, they have been fairly good sized pups and merit a blue ribbon.

At noon today a number of thermometers in the down town district registered between 84 and 95 degrees while those exposed to the rays of the sun bordered that mark by five and in some cases six degrees. It is evident that the month of June is destined of making records for the heat winter weather of April and May.

Thus far no cases of heat prostration have been reported in this city, perhaps for the reason that those who fear the effects of extreme heat have been seeking close to electric fans and the shady spots, avoiding out-of-door work, observing all the other duties for hot weather and drinking plenty of cool water.

Janesville is fortunate in not being numbered among those cities that have begun a heat mortality column, as reports from all parts of the country from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic show that several have succumbed and hundreds prostrated. Even in Canada the mercury yesterday climbed to 104 degrees while in the crowded cities of the United States, Janesville's record is entirely eclipsed.

In the country districts, much fear is expressed that the present hot wave will complete the work of destruction begun this spring by Old Bureau, who secured a new lease of life after the warm days of early March. Unless rain comes soon, the damage to crops will reach alarming figures as farmers are already beginning to harvest and the hay crop promises to be light. Similar heat reports are coming in from all parts of Wisconsin.

According to a dispatch received this afternoon, the weather man says that relief is in sight for the north-west and that normal temperature and local rains may be expected.

HENRY L. PITCHER DIED IN CHICAGO

Was Formerly Connected With the Late T. J. Ziegler in the Clothing Business Here.

Henry L. Pitcher, for twenty-five years one of the most prominent retail clothing merchants in Chicago and Kansas City, and who was a partner in the Janesville store of the T. J. Ziegler clothing company when it was started here, died last evening at his home, 5729 Whitcomb avenue, Edgewater, Chicago, aged sixty-three. Mr. Pitcher was for many years in charge of the Chicago and Kansas City stores of the Browning, King & company stores and was one of the charter members of the Illinois Commercial Club. WAS KILLED SUNDAY AT HANCOCK, MINN.

Dr. C. G. Gates, a One Time Janesville Resident, Run Down by a Train—Remains Brought Here Today.

William Grandjean of Sioux City, Ia., and the widow arrived here this morning with the remains of the late Dr. C. G. Gates, who was run down and instantly killed by a train at the Hancock, Minn., depot between the hours of eight and nine, Sunday evening, and the body was placed alongside those of a mother and sister in the family lot at Oak Hill cemetery. Funeral services were held at Hancock yesterday. The deceased was afflicted with deafness and this was largely responsible for the tragedy.

The late Dr. Gates was sixty-five years of age and had enjoyed an extensive practice in Hancock and the surrounding country for forty years. In his early youth he worked as a cabinet maker with the late George M. Pullman, originator of the Pullman sleeping car, but whether this was at Abilene, N. Y., or elsewhere does not appear. At any rate, his family cemetery lot shows that his family resided in Janesville in the late '30's. He had no children. Besides the widow, three brothers are left to mourn his loss. They are: H. S. M. C. A. building on Tuesday, July 5, at 7:30 p. m., and annually on the same date thereafter.

PRESIDENT TAFT USES A CLUB

TELLS SENATORS THEY MUST PASS HOUSE POSTAL-BANK BILL.

IS PREPARING FOR BATTLE

President Gives Up Trip to New Haven and Declares He Will Stay in Washington All Summer If Necessary.

Washington, June 22.—President Taft is preparing for a battle with hostile forces in the senate who seek to defeat the postal-savings-bank bill. As soon as he became aware that there was a plan on in the upper house to throttle the bill, he suddenly called off his visit to New Haven, Conn., where his son will graduate today.

"I'll stay in Washington all summer if necessary," the president is reported to have said when he heard that the postal bill was in danger.

Senate Balks at House.
The trouble began in the senate when Senator Carter reported the house bill to the senate as a substitute for his own measure already passed by the senate. The president liked the house bill much better than the senate bill and gave the word that "it must be adopted." Senator Carter acquiesced, but that was only one.

Filibuster Is Started.
Several insurgents and some of the regulars are strongly opposed to the house bill and rumors of a filibuster against the measure filled the air. It was because of those reports and the further prediction that the absence of the president from Washington would be taken advantage of to so amend the bill in the senate as to make its passage impossible in either branch of the national legislature that the president decided to remain at the White House from now until the day of adjournment.

The fight over the postal-savings-bank bill has many angles. The most interesting, perhaps, is the fact that the measure which the insurgents helped to frame and fully approved in the house is roundly denounced by the insurgents in the senate.

President Taft has promised to stand by the house measure, and he believed it to be a tacit agreement. It is said, that in return for the acceptance by the house of the senate attitude bill, the senate would accept the house postal-bank bill. He (that is, the president) and all of his advisers are agreed that the house bill is by far the better of the two.

Holds Whip Hand.
It is pretty generally admitted at the capitol that the president holds the whip hand in the fight and that as soon as a vote can be reached the senate will accept the house bill.

The river and harbor bill, containing some hundreds of items in which representatives and senators are generally interested, is still unsigned in the president's desk and subject to veto. The public buildings bill, affecting nearly every state in the union, is about to pass the senate and then will have to receive executive approval before it becomes a law and makes appropriations available. Mr. Taft is said to be not unkind of the influence of these two measures.

Sen's Makes Onslaught.
Agreeing to vote at five o'clock this afternoon on the Carter motion to concur in the house postal-savings-bank bill, the senate adjourned last night after a day devoted largely to an onslaught upon the house measure. A number of amendments were offered, but the "old guard" of the regulars was on duty and each amendment was successfully resisted, the majority ranging from six to eight votes.

FIRST AERIAL LINER STARTS.

Deutschland, With Zeppelin in Command, Off on 700-Mile Trip.
Friedrichshafen, June 22.—Brilliantly lighted from stem to stern, the great airship Deutschland started at 3 a. m. today on her 700-mile trip to Düsseldorf. The last trial trip of the first aerial passenger liner was made yesterday, and on everything worked satisfactorily. Count Zeppelin decided to make the start early this morning. The motors, which are of 360-horse power, will not be pushed to their capacity on this cruise, and Count Zeppelin, who is in command, calculated to reach Düsseldorf about noon.

FEDERAL JURY INDICT ROADS.

Charged With Failing to Observe Tariffs and Destroying Waybills.
Chicago, June 22.—The Illinois Central Railroad company, the Pennsylvania company, and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad company were indicted by the federal grand jury today.
The Illinois Central is charged with violating the Elkins act in failing to observe the tariffs.
The other companies are charged with destroying waybills in violation of the interstate commerce law.

Democratic Congressman Unseated.

Washington, June 22.—The house committee on elections No. 2 voted to unseat Edward W. Saunders (Dem.) of the 17th Virginia district and to give his seat in the house to J. M. Parsons (Rep.), who contested Saunders' election. This gives the Republicans two of Virginia's quota of ten congressmen.

U. S. BARS BANKER AND WOMAN.
Alleged Roosevelt Guest and Companion Face Deportation.
New York, June 22.—Instead of visiting Colonel Roosevelt at Oyster Bay on European finance and politics, as he declared he had been invited to, Hans Bauder, a wealthy banker of Zurich, Switzerland, who arrived here on the Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, stands an excellent chance of being deported.
Both he and a young woman, who appeared on the second cabin passenger list as Pauline Elizabeth Baurin, are at present detained at Ellis Island, the man on the charge of bringing an immoral woman into the United States, the woman on the charge of being an immoral person. Through the Swiss consul at this port Bauder has made a vigorous protest against his detention and the entire case has been sent to Washington for adjudication.
Among the papers sent to the department heads, however, is a confession of their relations made to the local board of inquiry, and although both the man and the woman, since consulting counsel, have tried to withdraw their confessions they have not been allowed to.

BIG CHICAGO TANNERY BURNS.

Four Hundred Employees Escape in Haste—Two Firemen Injured.
Chicago, June 22.—Two firemen were injured and eight employees escaped death only by jumping from windows into river below when fire attacked the plant of the Gruesz-Pfleger Tanning company at North Halsted street and the river here. Four hundred employees escaped in such haste, owing to the rapid spread of the flames, that many of them were unable to save their street clothes doffed for the day's work. Those who jumped from windows swam to fire tugs near by and were rescued without difficulty. The firemen were hit by falling bricks. The plant was destroyed with a loss of $250,000, fully insured.

CONVENTION OF AVIATORS SOUNDS CALL TO BATTLE

Two National Organizations Meet and Open War on the Aero Club of America.

New York, June 22.—The first gun in a bitter war which will decide the control of future air navigation meets in America was fired at a joint convention of the American Aeronautical association and the Aeronautic Federation of America which opened here today.

Aligned on one side are the two above mentioned organizations, off-springs of the Aero Club of America and founded by insurgent members of that body who were dissatisfied with the conditions existing in the parent organization. On the other side is the Aero Club of America, the oldest organization of its kind in the country, and which, it is claimed, is controlled absolutely by the financiers who own the Wright company.

The main purpose of the convention is the amalgamation of all the aero clubs in the country into one organization—the name to be selected—for the purpose of promoting the science of aeronautics. All clubs in the United States have received invitations to join, including the Aero Club of America, and every organization will be given an equal representation. This would eliminate the Aero Club of America as the controlling factor in aeronautics in this country. According to present indications, however, the Aero club will make no application to join the new organization. As the representative of the International Aeronautic federation, it has absolute control of all international aviation meets, and the leaders feel confident that this will prove a most effective weapon when the question of home control arises.

Many a lame, weak and aching back is had no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Thousands upon thousands of people are telling the good news of their experience with the Old Quaker Remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

John Pollard, Edgerton, Wis., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills at different times for several years and in view of the good results I received, I have no hesitation in recommending them. I suffered for some time from a dull pain in the small of my back and I was caused much annoyance by disordered kidneys. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention, I decided to give them a trial and procured a box. They gave me relief in a short time and before long I was free from the trouble. Since then, whenever I have felt any symptoms of a return, I have at once taken Doan's Kidney Pills, and they have never failed to drive away the attack. I know Doan's Kidney Pills to be a reliable kidney remedy."

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"WHAT will that child think up next?" sighed Eleanor's mother. You see, Eleanor had just been very vigorously dispossessed of the notion that it would be a splendid idea to get the sturdy gurdy man to let her swap places with his little girl, and go on his route with him for a few days.

She had come into the room where we were, bubbling over with delight at her scheme.

"You see, mamma, the little girl could sleep in my bed and have my place at the table, and she wouldn't be any more bother for you than me, I'm sure, because you always say I'm a whole houseful, and she is just as quiet. And then I could go along with him and shake the little plate with the jingles on it, and catch the money when the people throw it out of the windows, 'cause I'm very good at catching."

About here Eleanor's mother caught her breath suddenly to be able to interrupt.

Of course, an April shower and a hasty exit followed her vigorous denunciation of her daughter's scheme, and it was some time before she came back into the room after leading Eleanor to reason with her.

So I suppose it was no wonder that Eleanor's mother sighed as she sank into her chair and took up her sewing and began to hint for her needle: "What will that child think up next?"

But I did wonder a bit when she added:

"How lovely it must be to have quiet children, like Mrs. L's, who always play just what she suggests, and never cook up things like that."

It is quite true that the L's children do not think up things like that. Nor do they think up anything at all. Nor will they ever, as far as I can judge. They play what she suggests to them, simply because they haven't brains and energy enough to do anything else.

A thoroughly stupid child is never mischievous.

Three-quarters of all child mischief is simply an indication of brains and energy that are seeking some outlet and find an inconvenient one.

The child that never does anything, that from a grown person's standpoint is naughty or mischievous, isn't very likely to amount to much when he grows up.

I know a mother—very much wiser than Eleanor's, I think—who always says, when she is clearing up after some escapade of her child who has reasoned some member of her active young family out of some absolutely crazy scheme: "I don't care! I am so glad they have life enough to do such mischievous things. Who ever hears of these terribly good children after they grow up?"

The better supplied with brains and energy a child is, the harder he usually is to bring up well.

But surely that isn't sufficient cause for you to wish your child had less brains and energy.

Of course, all energy needs to be guided into the right channel. And of course, the child who resists such guidance unduly needs to be corrected.

Do these things to the best of your ability, and be thankful with all your heart that you have them to do.

You may not be able to do it just that way now, but I think you will some day—some day when your mischievous, bubbling-over-with-naughtiness youngsters have grown into the men and women who are always thinking and doing things—some day when the L's, a nice, quiet children have become part of the herd of whom your children have become the leaders.

THE BASSIER—AN INDISPENSABLE ADJUNCT OF THE TOILETTE.

By means of this little device the figure is held in the slender, graceful lines demanded by the new costumes. Rather a low bustier, worn over this, and the little basier, worn over this, holds the bust tightly and firmly and gives the rounded youthfulness of figure which is so desirable. The basier pictured is of valuable Japanese silk with a simple yet pretty trimming of lace, beading and ribbon. The garment fastens at the back and is fitted by means of cleverly shaped sections attached to each other.

FALSE SENTIMENTALITY.

By MARY RUSSELL.

I saw a man smile at a pretty girl the other day and pass on with the air of a conqueror or because she could not refrain from a half smile at the absurd grimace.

Later, another man spoke to me of how a girl had flirted with him, as he called it. I asked a few questions and then found that she was in a public position and that she had been pleasant and had laughed at his little stories and seemed friendly.

She was not half as friendly as men are who are thrown together in business, so why did he dare to insinuate that she was in the least attracted by him.

In the first instance I knew the girl and after a little time had passed I made the opportunity to talk to her about this same man. His complacency would be sadly rattled if he could have heard her.

"Do you know him," she asked, "and did you ever see him give that little lady-like smile? I never can help laughing, for he looks exactly like Consul, the educated monkey."

Many a man has taken a laugh that was at him for the responsive smile of the flirtatious girl. But if he could hear the girls talk it would be different.

Girls are often blamed for street flirtations and a girl who will flirt in the subject of much severe criticism. It always hurts me to hear it, for often the flirtation is the simple outpouring of the girl who is seeking for a little fun. If she were a boy she could go out to a baseball game or take a ride out to some pleasant house and call on some nice girl and have a pleasant evening.

It is all very well for older women who know what the temptations are and how dangerous are the results of what seems a harmless bit of fun to respectable matrons the other day: "Why does she not stay at home and read, or mend her skirt and make her name now mischievous?" Why

ROOTS, HERBS AND BARKS.

You can no doubt recall the collection of roots, herbs and barks your grandmother made every fall for the family medicine chest.

It is interesting to note the most successful remedy for female ills had its origin more than 30 years ago in one of these home medicine chests, and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made today in immense quantities from those same roots and herbs with extreme accuracy and cleanliness.

doesn't she? Because she is aching for a bit of fun and not the prosed individual could find mending skirt brud anything but tiresome.

Why do not women of position take up lonely girls and mother them and help them to a pleasant time? It is a great chance for good work.

The girl who is happy and respected by people who respects will seldom go wrong. She will not even be tempted.

Women who are childless have a great opportunity. Their home could be a center for all sorts of good things and gay happenings. Pleasant young men could be found who also need the little quiet and spiritual insight that comes from association with women of high ideals.

Why will not the women who work for art and religion and for foreign missions open their eyes and their hearts to this bit of God's work which is here at their doors?

The woman who sees the opportunity and picks it up will have a greater reward than that of a well satisfied conscience. She will be amazed to find that with the good times she gives to some girl who needs her, she has gained a good thing for herself.

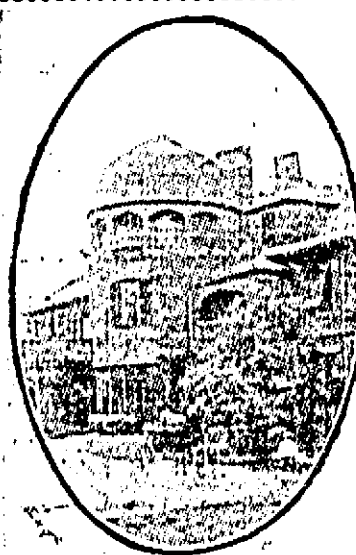

If some of those so-called Christians could be made to see this chance, what a rattling of dry bones there would be!

New York Society Leaders Round of Summer to Newport for the Leaders of Society. Mrs. Lorillard Spencer and Her New Home.

New York—The annual exodus of society matrons to Newport has commenced and within a few weeks this popular resort will be in the midst of its social supremacy. One of the well-known New York and Newport social queens is Mrs. Lorillard Spencer. Her beautiful home, the "Castellus" at Thililton Hill, is well known to Newport's four hundred.

Before her marriage in 1905 she was Miss Mary Sanda. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Sanda and her husband is the only son of Lorillard Spencer. She is fond of outdoor sports and is an accomplished angler. She is very stately and as a society lady was one of the most popular and sought after girls in the Newport summer colony.

The Optimist's Corner

Daily Helps to Health and Happiness

By GEORGE F. BUTLER, A.M., M.D.

How old are you? The adage says that women are as old as they look and men as old as they feel. That's wrong. A man and a woman are as old as they take themselves to be.

Growing old is largely a habit of the mind. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." If he begins shortly after middle life to imagine himself growing old, he will be old. To keep one's self from decrepitude is something of a matter of will power.

The fates are kind to the man who hangs on to life with both hands. He who lets go will go. Death is slow to tackle the tenacious Ponce de Leon searching in the wrong place for the fountain of youth. It is in one's self. One must keep one's self young inside. So that while "the outer man is renewed day by day." When the human mind ceases to exert itself, when there is no longer an active interest in the affairs of this life, when the human stops reading and thinking and doing, the man, like a blasted tree, begins to die at the top. You are only as old as you think you are. Keep the harness on. Your job is not done.

You need not suffer from sickness, and you need not fill yourself with drugs in order to be made well.

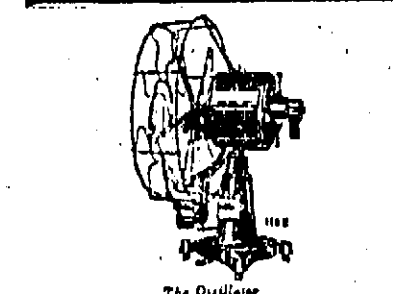

The great new science of Chiropractic (K-I-N-E-S-I-A-T-I-K) has shown the world that in order to be made well and to remain well it is necessary to remove the cause of the ailment and not to treat the symptoms with medicine. The Chiropractic adjustment is the only way to remove the cause of the ailment and to restore the body to its normal state of health. Every nerve in the body which controls every function and organ of the entire human system and every nerve (sympathetic) in the body through the spine. When certain nerves do not perform their functions you become sick. This way to remove the cause of the ailment is not at the expense of the patient's health. This is done by Chiropractic adjustment of the spine. Almost every ailment is curable by the Chiropractic science. If you suffer from sickness of any kind, call for free consultation and advice.

Yankee Bread

"Good to the Last Crumb"

HEALTHFUL and NUTRITIOUS

The yeast cells cause fermentation in the dough. This continues until the bread is baked in an oven of 212 degrees.

Your oven has a maximum temperature of 20 degrees and it is dry heat.

Such heat bakes the crust to a crisp and is often unable to penetrate the center of the loaf. The crust keeps the heat out but retards the steam.

That's why home-baked bread is almost moist. But the center of the loaf is only half baked. So the yeast cells are never killed. They continue to ferment and form gas in the stomach. They cause indigestion.

Our tremendous heat of 310 degrees kills every yeast cell and makes a healthful, nutritious bread.

Try a loaf tomorrow. See at your grocer or from our wagons, fresh every morning.

Members of Woman's Literary Club and Husbands Entertained on Lawn at Colton Home.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Janesville, June 21.—The Woman's Literary club held their annual picnic last evening on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Colton. There were thirty guests present including the husbands of the members. A picnic dinner was partaken of at six-thirty o'clock, and the remainder of the evening was spent in playing croquet, cards and other games. An unusual feature of the party was the entertainment of the husbands of the members, who were not shaded by trees, permitted the moon's beams to furnish ample light. It was a happy occasion and will not soon pass from the memory of those present.

EDGERTON MET THE SALOON PROBLEMS

Action of the Common Council as Regards Management of Liquor Shops Divides Opinion.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Janesville, June 22.—There is a division of opinion in this city relative to the saloon regulations which were passed by the common council at their meeting a week ago Monday night. The disciples of the anti-saloon league are jubilant over the success of their move and some of the saloon proprietors and employees feel that the tearing down of partitions will improve the tone of the places they run. On the other hand many of the businessmen who patronize the saloons are most indignant over the situation and freely express themselves regarding the changes that have taken place.

All partitions, screens and enclosed rooms or stalls have disappeared from the saloons already. The balls and cues for the billiard and pool tables have also gone although the tables remain alone in their former glory. This was another reform move that the habits of the saloons disapprove of. The free lunch is also abolished. In this perhaps the saloon proprietors agree with the council as it always entailed additional expense.

Beside this the saloon men must strictly live up to the state laws and city ordinances regarding the closing hours and selling liquor to minors and black listed persons. It is known that the men who were behind the movement to abolish the saloons, if possible, are watching the saloons closely for some infringement of the rules laid down and that prosecutions will follow.

The whole trouble in Edgerton has apparently been caused by the outsiders who have come from Stoughton and dry communities, drank their fill of the beer and whiskey and then raised disturbances. The saloon men claim that they have been imposed upon by youths who have looked to be of age and who have professed to have attained their majority, who have secured drinks.

The anti-saloon element, which is led by the Methodist minister, did not make any definite moves until they claimed they had secured evidence of law violations sufficient to take away all the licenses. This is denied by the liquor men who claim that the cases were weak, that it was so admitted by their attorneys and that the compromise effected was at the suggestion of the saloon men themselves.

One prominent saloon proprietor is authority for the statement that even with the screens and partitions he saw no difference in his receipts and his bar tender even went further and stated that he would never work in a place that had screens in it again. "It places the saloon on the same basis as a drug store or any other place of business," he said in giving his reasons for preferring the new regime.

One of the chief objections to the doing away with the screens is raised by the friends of the saloon that boys and young girls stop and peer into the saloons as they pass and it is a bad example for them to see their elders drinking. To this the anti-saloon people say that it will be the means of lessening the drinking about the city.

Taking it all in all the situation is interesting. Both sides are in earnest and something is likely to drop before long. However, had at present the anti-saloon people are in control and the experiment is working out by their own solution and is being watched with interest by other cities where similar conditions exist as did in Edgerton.

BOOSTING FOR "OUR TOWN"

When you hear that expression, "The Hum What Am," what does it make you think of? Why, Armour's ham, of course.

The Executive Committee of the Janesville and Industrial Club has started a slogan contest for boys and girls.

You know that this contest is simply to arouse interest and a feeling of pride in our home town.

This contest is to get you and your children and your neighbor and his children to think of the town we live in, to think and appreciate its advantages, to realize that there isn't a better town in the country.

We should all boost our town ALL the time. Let any man in this town go to a certain city out in Iowa or meet a man from that Iowa city and he will have to do some mighty fast talking to keep this Iowa man quiet about his town. Everyone who lives within gunshot of Waterloo, Iowa, is for Waterloo ALL the time. A river divides that town and there is a continual squabble on between the merchants and residents of the two sides, but when you, a stranger, meet a Waterloo man he keeps this little home row under his hat and starts at the beginning, middle or end and works
